MURPHY SAYS
HE GOT $2500
BRIBE MONEYFORMER LIEUTENANT
GOVERNOR OFFERS
RESTITUTION

Lansing, June 7 (P)—Frank Murphy, former lieutenant governor, made open court confession today that he had accepted bribes totaling $2,500 during his term of office. He pleaded guilty to a grand jury conspiracy warrant, and offered to return the money in partial atonement.

He whispered his plea of guilty as he stood before Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr, whose one-man grand jury issued the conspiracy warrant. It alleged that Murphy, as lieutenant governor and president of the Michigan senate during the 1941 legislature, had accepted and dispensed bribes in a conspiracy to corrupt the legislature.

Not Long To Live
"I have taken $2,500," Murphy said in court. "I would like to have your permission to return this money as soon as this case is disposed of. I'd like to do that for personal reasons."

"I don't know whether it is 60 days or six years that I have before me to live. I would rather have that off my mind than to leave an inheritance of that type to my children," he said as he was suffering from a heart ailment.

Judge Carr made no open court reference to the offer to return the money, after having conferred in chambers with Murphy. He told newsmen, however, this was outside the court's jurisdiction, and Murphy told reporters that "I don't think I ought to say to whom I will give the money."

Others Surrender
Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler said Murphy had informed him he desired to "cooperate" with the grand jury.

Abe H. Weinstein, president of the Arrow Liqueur Corp., of Detroit and Samuel Schreier (the said spelling of his name as "Schreier" in the warrant was an error), secretary and treasurer, surrendered to the same warrant which was set for June 16. They were released in bond of $2,500 each.

Emanuel M. Rosenthal, president of the Mohawk Liqueur Corporation, of Detroit, and Charles Layton, sales manager, are to surrender to the warrant tomorrow. The defendants are accused of conspiring to influence the legislature through bribery in considering distillery license legislation.

Sleeping Private
Stows Away Into
Midst Of Invasion

London, June 7 (P)—A Ninth Air Force private unwittingly stowed away in a glider and slept his way into history's greatest military operation, air force headquarters related today.

He was Charles Schmelze of Pittsburgh, Pa., who helped to service troop-carrying gliders for the flight behind enemy lines. Unnoticed, he climbed into the tail glider and fell asleep.

The glider towed by a plane piloted by Flight Officer E. G. Borgmeyer, St. Louis, Mo., last was seen landing in a zone of heavy fighting.

DEWEY OPPOSED
BY CIO GROUPSNew Yorker Ignorant Of
U. S. Major Problems,
Says Chairman

BY JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
Chairman Sidney Hillman put the CIO political action committee definitely on the line against Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the presidential race yesterday (Wednesday).

Contending that Dewey "is in complete ignorance of the major problems that face the nation," Hillman at a Washington news conference called on the New York governor to make known his views regarding postwar employment. At the same time he said the CIO committee had "prejudged" Dewey "on the basis of his record or lack of record" and found him wanting.

The chairman offered to appear before the Senate Elections Committee if it decides to look into recent charges by Harrison E. Spangler, Republican National Chairman, that the CIO committee is violating the corrupt practices law and the Hatch Act by accepting contributions of more than $5,000 from individual labor unions.

Hillman attributed congressional and other attacks on the political action committee to "the familiar old crowd of labor-haters and Roosevelt-haters" who, he said, were "shivering in their reactionary undershirts" because of the effectiveness of his committee.

Committee Formed
To Re-educate Nazi
Prisoners In U. S. A.

New York, June 7 (P)—Formation of a national committee for the re-education of German prisoners of war in the United States was announced today by Gerhart H. Seger, former member of the German Reichstag and editor of the German language, anti-Nazi newspaper, Neue Volkszeitung.

The re-education program will be on a voluntary basis, Seger said, since a compulsory one would be a violation of the Geneva convention.

He said that about 25 per cent of the German prisoners in this country are fanatical Nazis, 15 per cent anti-Nazi, and 60 per cent "in between."

Members of the committee included Dr. David D. Henry, executive vice president, Wayne University, Detroit, Mich.,

MAJOR GENERAL
MILLER BROKENIndiscreet Talk About
Invasion Sends High
Officer Packing

Washington, June 7 (P)—The army reported today that Major General Henry J. F. Miller was "broken" to lieutenant colonel and sent home from England for an indiscreet remark at a cocktail party hinting at the time set for the invasion of Europe.

The rank to which he was reduced is his permanent grade, held since 1936. The rank of major general was temporary.

Here, in response to inquiries, the war department issued a memorandum naming the officer as Miller, 53, a graduate of the command and general staff school with a 33-year honorable record of army service. He is a native of Salem, N. J., and lives in Miami, Fla.

A 1914 graduate of West Point, Miller is a cavalry man who transferred to the air forces. In England, he was one of the commanding officers of the U. S. air force.

The dispatches from SHAEF, held up for security reasons until after the invasion, told this story: Miller is alleged to have said at the party in London, "on my honor the invasion will take place before June 15."

A woman guest reported his remark to security police and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, after an investigation, reduced Miller to the rank of lieutenant colonel and sent him home.

The war department did not disclose where Miller is now.

BATTLE PETERS
OUT IN ROMANIARussians Now Ready To Launch Full-Scale
Thrust In East

BY RUSSELL LANDSTROM
London, June 7 (P)—The German drive in Romania north of the last appeared to have ended today, and the Soviet army newspaper Red Star in Moscow said that Russia now was ready to launch her own promised offensive against the Germans from the east.

The abortive German attacks in the province of Moldavia cost the Nazis more than 10,000 dead and tremendous losses in equipment during the June 6. Moscow announced tonight. A Berlin foreign broadcast claimed at least ten Soviet rifle divisions had been "wiped out or decisively mauled."

With the German attacks smothered, there was a growing belief that the Russians' long-awaited plunge westward might begin at any time. Red Star said Russia is prepared to throw its full weight into the growing offensive against Germany and stated that "a strong, mounting attack of all the armies of the United Nations will be fully developed."

Parole Is Granted
Dr. Phillip Callahan

Lansing, June 7 (P)—Dr. Phillip A. Callahan, of Detroit, former state social security supervisor who was sentenced to prison May 19, 1942, for embezzling state funds, will be granted a parole July 30, the state parole board announced today.

He was convicted of taking approximately $1,200 of postage stamps from state welfare department accounts and selling them for cash. He was sentenced for a term of three to 10 years.

Pearl Harbor Court
Martial Case Given
6-Months Extension

Washington, June 7 (P)—Compromising senate and house differences, congress settled today on a six months' extension from midnight tonight of the time in which court martials may be held on any charges arising from the Pearl Harbor disaster.

A bill approved by both legislative branches and sent to the White House directs that, meantime, the secretaries of war and navy are to make investigations and take such action as appears justified.

The measure extends anew the statute of limitations which already had been extended for six months past Dec. 7, 1943, because the war and navy departments opposed Pearl Harbor trials during wartime.

The house had voted for a three months extension—which would mean trials before next fall's election—and the senate for 12 months. A joint committee settled on six months and both chambers accepted its decision.

No Cuts Are Made
In Funds For Army

Washington, June 7 (P)—Backing up the War Department with virtually every dollar it requested, the House Appropriations Committee recommended today a $49,109,002,795 fund to finance the nation's far-flung fighting armies during the fiscal year starting July 1.

The unanimity of the committee is expected to be duplicated by the House when the near-record bill reaches the floor late this week.

The committee pointed out that some of the funds might not be used, should Germany collapse within the next six months, but added that "there is no warrant, however, for such an assumption."

The new fund boosts to approximately $390,000,000 the total voted by Congress for the war effort since July 1, 1940.

MAJOR BREAK
REPORTED ON
ITALIAN FRONTFIFTH ARMY GAINS
10 TO 12 MILES

BY EDWARD KENNEDY
Rome, June 7 (P)—The Fifth army smashed ahead north and west of Rome toward Lake Bracciano and the key Tyrrhenian port of Civitavecchia tonight in a drive so rapid and powerful that the Germans themselves described it officially as a "major break" through their lines.

Fanning out above the city the Allies advanced so far along the vital coastal highway No. One that one official announced this evening that they "continued a rapid advance in the direction of Civitavecchia," the closest port to Rome, 40 miles to the northwest by road.

Important Peaks Reached
The advance was along all main highways west and northwest of the city, including the routes numbered One and Two and the Magliana coastal road, the Allied troops covering a distance of ten miles from Rome as they reached northward to within five miles of Lake Bracciano. The march reached the important peaks Mount Grossara, Mount Agurio and Mount Forno, commanding the Bracciano route for two miles.

To the west advance patrols reached points three to five miles from the sea and nearly a dozen miles north of the mouth of the Tiber.

As the battered German Tenth and Fourteenth German armies fell back, General Alexander broadcast to Italian patriots urging them to rise up and do all they can to disrupt the retreat.

"In less than a month the strength of the German armies has been broken," he said, adding that "the liberation of Italy now is well under way."

Over 18,000 Prisoners
The disorganized resistance the Allies were encountering was from small battle groups made up of elements of various beaten units. Already more than 18,000 prisoners had been taken by the Fifth army alone, and the total was growing.

More thousands were captured by the British Eighth army which still was meeting strong enemy defenses northeast of Rome as the Germans threw heavy demolitions and minefields into the path of the advance. The Germans played for time to retreat from the mouth of a net closing in the hills above Rome.

"The hardest fighting is now centered northeast of Rome," said today's Allied communique. The Germans were described as "offering strong resistance" in this area.

The Mediterranean Air Force flew more than 2,300 sorties yesterday in operations which carried east to the oil refineries at Ploesti, Romania, which were attacked by heavy bombers along with Romanian and Yugoslav rail points.

War Bond Buying
Speeded By D-Day

Washington, June 7 (P)—The invasion of western Europe brought a rush of war bond buying, the treasury reported today.

In Brooklyn alone, special booths set up by New York City's civilian defense organization have netted $3,000,000 in bond pledges and stamp sales, the war finance division said.

LONDON, (by wireless)—Lieut. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, head of the Eighth Air Force over here, notified one day in the roster of officers at his staff headquarters the name of a Captain Doolittle.

The name is not a very ordinary one, and he made a mental note that some day he would look the fellow up for a little chat. One day not long after that his phone rang and the voice at the other end said, "this is Captain Doolittle."

Enemy Hurlled
Back On CoastRoad To Caen Cut Four Miles Inland; Fighting Gets Tougher As Germans Counter-Attack

BY WES GALLAGHER
Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Thursday, June 8, (P)—The Allies announced today capture of their first French city, the Nazi-fortified town of Bayeux, five miles inshore in the center of the Normandy invasion coast, and said they also had cut the highway from Bayeux to Caen as they moved inland in generally heavy fighting against counter-attacking German reserves.

(The Cherbourg-Caen-Paris railway and a main highway run through Bayeux, so that capture of the town cuts both, contributing to isolation of the Cherbourg peninsula.)

Caen, 18 miles southeast of Bayeux and nine miles from the sea, was the scene of a German armored counter-attack which has been hurled back, headquarters disclosed, and the Allied forces were said to be doing generally "better than expected."

Eisenhower Tours Beach
Aside from these two towns, supreme headquarters gave no place - names, ignoring a continuing stream of German broadcasts which reported new Allied attacks all the way from the Pas de Calais area on Dover Strait to Nantes at the base of the big Brittany peninsula jutting out into the Atlantic.

A headquarters communique said the Allied landing beaches had been cleared of the enemy and had been linked up by flank extensions in some cases during the second day of the invasion while steady reinforcements poured in by sea and air.

The supreme commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, toured the beach areas in a British vessel for four and one-half hours Wednesday, conferring with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery and other operation chiefs less than five miles from German-held territory.

GLIDER FACTORY
CITY GOES WILD
Greenville Celebrates
Airborne Landing By Home Product

Greenville, Mich., June 7 (P)—This city literally went wild today with the news that its own glider "The Fighting Falcon" led the Allied airborne invasion into France on D-Day.

Greenville lays claims to the Falcon because school children paid for the glider with a war bond campaign a little over a year ago and because it was produced at the Gibson Refrigerator Co. here.

As the news began to seep through the town, general excitement prevailed. Telephone calls jammed the local switchboard and workers at the Gibson firm, where most of the 5,300 townspeople work, yelled like wild men and then quickly returned to their jobs of making more gliders.

Classes were impossible at Greenville schools when the first announcement came through. As soon as the Associated Press confirmed the story, Superintendent Verne Mable called a general assembly of all pupils and let the excited youngsters scream and yell their enthusiasm out. "They went nuts" was Mable's happy comment. The first burst of noise, he said, was followed by a reverent silence during which many of the boys and girls shed a few tears.

It was in May 1942 at the end of a war bond drive when school students surpassed their $20,000 quota and wound up with $72,000, that the treasury department gave permission to the students to name a glider.

Newberry Gunner
Describes Level
Country At Caen

East Lansing, June 7 (P)—George Sarafin, of Newberry, who was an aerial gunner with the Eighth Air Force before he was sent to the 259th Army Air Force base at Michigan State College, today described the Normandy beaches as "ideal for invasion."

Sarafin, who has been on bombing raids over Caen, said the surrounding country was flat and wooded, and only partially populated, in contrast to industrial Calais.

He and other former Eighth Air Force members said to them the Normandy invasion looked like another surprise Feint, similar to the landings at Anzio.

Get Prison Terms

Salt Lake City, June 7 (P)—Nine members of the "Fundamentalist" cult today were sentenced to federal prison terms ranging from one year and one day to four years and one day.

Six were convicted of Mann act violation for transporting plural wives across state lines for immoral purposes and three were convicted of kidnapping for transporting a 14-year-old girl, who later became the polygamist wife of one of the defendants.

BOMB CURTAIN
ON BEACHHEADAIRMEN HELP CUT
OFF SUPPORT FOR NAZIS

BY AUSTIN REALMEAR
Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 7 (P)—Allied warplanes, which have flown a total of 31,000 sorties against Europe since June 1, threw down blazing curtains of bombs and bullets intended to cut off both help and escape for German troops on the perimeters of the expanding beachheads in France.

South of Caen 250 to 500 Flying Fortresses and Liberators heavily attacked road junctions to block off German reinforcements. In this unusual front-line use of heavy bombers, neither anti-aircraft fire nor German fighter opposition was encountered.

Clouds prevented assessment of the damage done.

Bridges Wrecked
Allied fighter planes were holding an aerial cordon around the beachhead that spelled a virtual death warrant for enemy aircraft trying to attack, while swarms of other planes of nearly every sort scourged the German reinforcement routes.

Flying weather continued bad and enemy resistance slowly increased, but the Allied airmen flew lower than customary to pour explosives and airborne reinforcements down on the Germans.

The effects of the tremendous Allied pre-invasion attacks on Nazi communications was reflected in the disclosure that on D-Day only one railroad bridge and five highway bridges were undamaged over the Seine between Paris and the sea.

Every railroad bridge and all except two highway bridges between Paris and Rouen had been destroyed. Some bridges still intact were captured by Allied airborne forces before the Germans could damage them.

More Parachutists Arrive
The German air force, absent from the skies through most of D-Day, began to rise slowly to Reichsmarschal Herman Goering's order to fight or perish and its losses mounted to at least 70 planes since invasion began.

Allied losses in a like period reached 73 as air units threw caution to the winds and defied weather and ground defenses alike to bomb and strafe enemy columns, armor, convoys of trucks, trains, railroad and air fields.

Half of one armored convoy of 75 to 100 vehicles was reported wiped out by 16 Thunderbolts.

Fighters mounted guard while troop carrier planes, many towing gliders filled with fighting men, dumped more parachute troops behind the enemy lines last night and early today. A headquarters announcement said 12 carriers and 12 gliders were missing in these new thrusts.

17,402,290 Tons of Iron Ore Is Moved Already This Year

Cleveland—Seamen manning Great Lakes vessels moved a total of 17,402,290 tons of iron ore and 82,315,761 bushels of grain to blast furnaces and elevators during the first two months of 1944 navigation. It was announced by the Lake Carriers' Association.

This was 34 per cent more iron ore than was moved in the same period last year and more than double the quantity of grain.

In terms of equipment to back up the invasion, figures in the current issue of the Lake Carriers' "Bulletin" indicate the tonnage of iron ore moved to June 1 would be enough to make 158,150 big M-4 tanks, an equal number of M-10 tank destroyers, 432,600 heavy 155 mm field guns and 216,300 Bofors anti-aircraft guns and mounts.

As such, the season's totals to date become a resounding answer to the appeal made to lake seamen by Major General E. B. Gregory, the Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army. As one of several high officials addressing lake seamen through the "Bulletin," which is distributed aboard bulk cargo vessels of the Great Lakes, the Quartermaster General said: "The time when final Victory will come to the United States will be determined in tremendous measure by the speed with which America's war supplies are produced and are moved to the battle front. Your efforts toward keeping these supplies moving along our great inland waterways represent a vital link in the chain that ultimately will smash our enemies in defeat. By performing to the fullest your role in this vast task, you are making a contribution to the war effort worthy of the appreciation of America's fighting men throughout the world."

Labor Troubles Make 19,000 Idle In Vital Plants

(By The Associated Press)

Representatives of the army, management and unions urged strikers yesterday (Wednesday) to resume production of airplane engines at the huge Wright Aeronautical Corporation plant in Lockland, Ohio.

Between 12,000 and 15,000 employees, represented by the CIO United Auto Workers, were idle there in a dispute that began when seven negro workers were transferred to a department manned heretofore by white personnel.

The controversy there and another affecting 1,000 CIO United Steel Workers at the Timken Roller Bearing company in Canton, Ohio, were certified to the war labor board.

A naval officer suspended 52 workers at the navy-operated special ordnance plant of the York Safe and Lock company at York, Pa., on grounds that they had stopped work.

Altogether, 19,000 men and women were idle because of labor disagreements in various parts of the country.

Children Receive Lessons By Radio In Chicago Schools

Chicago—The windy city's youngsters are snatching part of their education out of the air! Simplified junior style news-casts, related to school lessons, are broadcast daily over the city radio council's FM station, WBEZ. George Jennings, director of the council, prepares his programs to illustrate current classwork wherever possible, and they include such subjects as literature, foreign languages, art, science, mathematics, health education and social studies.

Seven years ago, the radio council had a single weekly broadcast over a local commercial station. Last year, the Board of Education chartered WBEZ, now on the air six hours daily. In addition, ten broadcasts each week over two local stations reach schools where there are no FM receivers.

Recently the council leased a Press Association radio news wire, amplifying its news feature program. Jennings and his staff write programs to reach a varied audience—elementary school children, high schoolers, adults, teachers and principals.

On the walls of Chicago schoolrooms are pictures drawn from radio inspiration, which also has produced considerable work in weaving, map study, writing, geographical research and scientific experiments.

Radio programs also have been used as delinquency cures and "hooky" preventive.

After the war, Jennings predicts, Chicago will install at least five FM receivers in every school—about 1,500 in all. He backs up a prophecy that radio education will be nation-wide with a report that the government already has 100 applications for FM stations from school boards, churches and universities.

DRAFT EVASION CHARGED—Iron River—Charged with violating the Selective Service act, John H. Wilson, 32, formerly of Iron River, stood mute this week when arraigned before Judge Fred M. Raymond in federal court at Grand Rapids, and the court entered a plea of innocent for the respondent.

Wilson, son of Mrs. E. C. Wilson, former librarian here, may be tried in the current term.

Records in the draft office here reveal that Wilson failed to report for induction on Oct. 5, 1942. In a subsequent hearing he said that he was a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, religious sect, and was not subject to the draft. The board gave him opportunity to volunteer for service.

BOMB CURTAIN BACKS ATTACK ON BEACHHEAD

Day air operations in which the Allies flew an amazing total of over 12,000 sorties, the Royal Air Force sent more than 1,000 heavy bombers in two waves drenching targets just behind the invasion area with more than 5,600 tons of bombs last night.

Trains Blow Up—Long before dawn today the Eighth Air Force was out in force, patrolling the beachhead straining and bombing. More enemy planes were in the air than seen all during yesterday.

One formation bombed a train of fuel cars and a pilot said he had just counted 27 of them when they all disappeared in one big explosion. This same group shot up four locomotives, other tank cars and several radio towers.

RAF bombers had expected German night fighter packs to be out in force as they set out last night to hit road and rail junctions and bridges 15 to 40 miles beyond the coast—key points through which reinforcements for the front line were expected to be pouring.

The Allied warplanes continued to deal out punishment to air bases today. A group of Mustangs shot up an air field and left four FW-190s riddled and burning. Another just coming in to land was shot down by Capt. Lewis Peter Jr., San Antonio, Tex.

"Doughboys' General" Bradley Commands U. S. Units In France

BY HAROLD V. BOYLE

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 7 (AP)—Lanky Omar N. Bradley—the "doughboys' general" who has killed more Germans than any other U. S. general officer—is commander of the American army driving into France, it was announced today.

The Germans know this simple, kindly lieutenant-general as a master tactician who outsmarted them in the climactic battle of North Africa and who ushered them unceremoniously out of the mountains in the epic 38-day conquest of Sicily.

In the initial stages of the landings in France, General Bradley was tied by the need for communications to the deck of the flagship U. S. S. Augusta—birthplace of the Atlantic charter—off the French coast, but before the western Europe front opened he indicated he would move right in with the troops at the earliest possible moment.

It is a tribute to Bradley's proud record as a teacher as well as fighting leader that he picked to direct this momentous engagement many men he personally trained as officers at head of the infantry officers' school at Fort Benning, Ga.

He also has trained more "shave tails" than any other U. S. general officer, for Fort Benning graduated 40,000 a year under the methods which he supervised. This 51-year-old Missouri-born commander, the greatest military contribution of the "show me" state since "Black Jack" Pershing, contrasts sharply with his imperious, colorful opponent, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, a Nazi veteran of slam-bang advances and long retreats.

General Bradley is known as the "doughboys' general" because he is sparing of the lives of men under his command.

But he is a tough, knotty fighter with the tenacious, sledgehammer persistence of Gen. U. S. Grant, the shrewdness of a New England horse trader, but with a personal dignity and integrity that can be compared with that of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

A native of Clark, Mo., he was in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's class of 1915 at West Point and it was General Eisenhower who gave him his first chance to show what he could do in the field in North Africa. He responded with the smashing offense that captured Bizerte.

Enemy Hurdled Back On Coast

and men moved constantly to the beaches despite strong northwest winds, which moderated somewhat tonight.

Coastal Guns Silenced

Clearing the beaches of the enemy freed the supply and reinforcement convoys and men from small arms attack, while naval forces silenced remaining German coastal guns which had escaped the first furious air and sea assault Tuesday.

Headquarters conservatively stated: "It is not yet known whether all have been finally reduced." The U. S. battleship Texas and the British cruiser Glasgow were officially credited in this work with aircraft spotters.

Air headquarters announced operations Wednesday were on as big a scale as Tuesday, which would mean that by Thursday morning the 48-hour total of sorties flown would possibly reach the nearly incredible total of 25,000.

It was disclosed during the evening that the supreme Allied commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, had visited the beaches during Wednesday, going in a British vessel with the supreme naval commander, Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay.

Picked American combat teams that were pinned down on the beaches by fierce German fire for the first 24 hours of the offensive broke out and drove inland. Unconfirmed reports said penetrations had been made to a depth of 12 miles in some places, but the fighting was confused and no definite lines yet had been established.

Nazis Still Bewildered

The German high command admitted that "superior" forces had established beachheads more than 40 miles apart, at the mouth of the Orne River and north of Caen on the Cherbourg peninsula. A Berlin news broadcast said the Allies held a bridgehead about 21 miles wide and six miles deep at the mouth of the Orne.

Allied officers were loath to give specific details of the fighting, as they believed the Nazis still were somewhat bewildered by the multiple landings by sea and air. The stiffening enemy resistance was the natural result of Rommel having rushed reinforcements into individual localities where he had been able to size up Allied attacks.

Both sides dropped air-borne troops into the flaming battle front, with Allied paratroopers and glider troops pouring down early today from a 50-mile-long sky train. Allied headquarters disclosed that more than 31,000 aerial sorties were flown between June 1 and last night in preparation for and in support of the invasion.

American troops fighting through the maze of German defenses were under the command of Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley, the "doughboys' general," who directed the successful final drive on Bizerte at the climax of the Tunisian campaign.

Early today there was some pessimism around this command post, reports having indicated that Allied forces had accomplished less than had been expected of them and that the weather was interfering with the flow of reinforcements and supplies across the channel. But as the day wore on and additional advice came in from the front, this mood changed to one of "sober satisfaction."

Air Resistance Stiffens

It was announced that Allied air-borne forces had carried out "all the tasks allotted" them. Their part of the operation was considered so markedly successful, in fact, that the Allied command was encouraged in respect to their future use.

In all, the Allied air forces flew well over 12,000 sorties from dawn yesterday until dawn today, with more than 1,000 British heavy bombers pouring a stream of explosives upon German reinforcements moving toward the fighting front during the night. Allied losses were reported as 13 British heavy bombers, one American heavy bomber and 17 Allied fighters.

Nazi aerial resistance began to increase gradually during the day and 53 enemy planes were shot down. The German radio said thick weather kept the Luftwaffe out of the skies in any strength during the early hours of the invasion. Some Allied air officers looked for a battle royal to develop over France before many days had passed. The Allies were maintaining a constant fighter patrol over the battle zones, with at least 200 planes overhead at any given moment.

Flying weather improved considerably on the second day of the big push, with the sunshine breaking through at times and patches of blue sky showing as the barometer rose during the afternoon. There still was a fairly strong northwest wind, but the channel was much smoother than yesterday, when landing craft thumped through and over six-foot waves enroute to the beaches and thousands of soldiers suffered horribly from seasickness.

Artificial Leg Plays Postoffice

Middleburg, Va. (AP)—Before the Italians surrendered, they exchanged prisoners including a 25-year-old American Field Service ambulance driver whose mother related that he carried with him good news for the relatives of 340 other American prisoners.

Mrs. Amory Perkins said her son, Charles E. Perkins, carried out the addresses of the relatives on slips of paper concealed in his artificial leg, then sent them on to her.

Campbell Lawsuit Appeal Is Heard In Supreme Court

Iron River—Litigation of widespread interest to the iron ore mining industry will be argued before the Michigan state supreme court in Lansing at its term opening this week involving an appeal of D. H. Campbell of his case against the Homer Ore company, for sums alleged due from Minckler mine royalties.

The appeal is from a decision of Judge Thomas J. Landers, Ironwood, who ruled for the company following a hearing in Iron county circuit court at Crystal Falls last fall.

As the owner of a one-twenty-fourth interest in the fee of the Minckler mine, Campbell started suit in Iron county court for the value of his share of the iron ore, claimed to be approximately 11 cents a ton. Under the terms of a lease his interest is said to have earned slightly over one cent a ton, the company asserts.

When Judge Landers dismissed the suit, Campbell appealed to the supreme court, claiming that because of a mixture of Minckler ore with others mined by the company in the vicinity and placed in stockpile, separate railroad weights of the Minckler ore could not be obtained and that this constituted a violation of the mine lease. A further contention was that Judge Landers erred in his holding.

To this the company replied that the method of determination as now fixed is more meticulous than the railroad weights and even if railroad weights did govern, the ore mixed being of the same kind, proportionate weights can be obtained from the railroad company and compared with reports of tonnage mined from the several mines.

Campbell, former Wilson resident, is now living in Powers.

Dr. William Hale To Speak At Tech

Houghton—Dr. William J. Hale, renowned research chemist and research consultant of the Dow Chemical company, will address the faculty of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology on major recent developments in agricultural chemistry and other branches of the chemical and chemical engineering industries, Friday afternoon (June 9) at 3:15 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Faculty Clubroom of the Administration building.

Dr. Hale received his degrees from Miami and Harvard universities, studied abroad, and taught at the Universities of Chicago and Michigan before becoming director of organic chemistry research for the Dow company. This position he held from 1919 to 1934, since which time he has been a research consultant for that firm. He has headed the National Agrol company of Washington, D. C., since 1939.

He is a brother-in-law of Dr. Willard H. Dow, president of the Dow Chemical company and holder of the honorary degrees of doctor of engineering from the University of Michigan and doctor of science from the Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

DAIRY MEETING SET FOR FRIDAY

D. H. I. A. Members Will Meet Association Tester Here

Delta county members of the Dairy Herd Improvement association will meet at the court house in Escanaba at 8 o'clock Friday night in organization session called by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent.

The meeting will also provide an opportunity for the members to become acquainted with the new association tester, Henry Nelson of Marquette county, who began his work in Delta county Tuesday.

Nelson has been working in the Bark River-Newhall area, and from there is going into Cornish and then to St. Nicholas.

Also scheduled to be present at the Friday night meeting is George McIntyre, dairy specialist of Chatham, who will discuss dairy problems and answer questions. It is expected the meeting will be brief.

Pageant Features EHS Commencement Tonight

A class of 191 Escanaba high school seniors will be graduated this evening at the annual commencement program to be held at the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium in the junior high school building. The program will begin at 8:15 o'clock and admittance will be by ticket only. Dr. Louis Groos, president of the Escanaba board of education, will present the diplomas.

Featured in the commencement program will be the presentation of a pageant, "When the Boys Come Home," written by Miss Florence Langley and directed by Miss Florence Langley and Paul Bowers.

The pageant portrays in dialogue and song the thoughts of the American boys in service and the type of community that they will seek to build upon return to peaceful living. A large chorus of seniors selected from the capella choir will present the musical portions of the pageant.

The commencement program will open with the singing of the national anthem by the audience, followed by the invocation led by Rev. William A. Gregory, pastor of the First Methodist church.

A two-piano duet, "Concerto in G Minor," by Medeirosohn, will be presented by Jeanette Anderson and Mark Bergman.

The cast of the pageant, "When the Boys Come Home," follows: Stage manager—John Fillion. Dad—John Gregory. Mom—Lois Jane Jensen. Sister—Jeanette Anderson. Dogs Must Be Kept Confined In County

Dog owners in the county yesterday were warned they must keep their dogs on their own premises, and that if they are permitted to run at large and there are complaints the dogs will be shot.

This warning was issued by Deputy Sheriff Paul Cretens following his return from Brampton township yesterday afternoon, where he investigated complaints that dogs had been chasing cows and damaging gardens.

Just One Solution

THOSE Nazi prisoners of war, who escaped from a work camp near Au-Train, on Saturday, failed to see "the destruction of Chicago." It is revealed that it was their desire to confirm their belief that America's second largest city had been bombed to destruction by their beloved Luftwaffe, that prompted them to make their escape. It is said that all of the prisoners confined at this peninsula camp have stubbornly refused to believe that no American city has been touched by invasion forces, for their commanders, ever since the United States entered the war, have stressed the punishment that was being inflicted upon the cities of this nation and no amount of evidence has shaken their faith in their Nazi leaders. Only their personal suffering in the wilderness of the peninsula caused these refugees to abandon their desire to personally view "the destruction of Chicago."

Their attitude will remain unchanged, in spite of their sorry experience and in spite of the fact that these escapes will be promptly returned to the prison camp, from which they were shipped to the peninsula.

The attitude of these prisoners of war must be accepted as the attitude of a great part of the whole German people today. Even as the mass invasion of Europe is being launched, to hasten the day when Nazi-ism is completely destroyed, the greater part of the fanatical followers of Europe's Murder Incorporated will cling to their faith in their leaders to the very end.

All of which should convince the American people that these mad-dogs of Europe, now harbored in our peninsula under the guise of a "work force", do not deserve the coddling that is being accorded them.

They know only the power of brute force and it is only such treatment that should be meted out to them. They glory in the butchery of the defenseless peoples of the lands they conquered temporarily.

A nervous trigger finger would be a powerful antidote for these birds who want to see "the destruction of Chicago."

War Loan Drive Opens

ALTHOUGH the Fifth War Loan drive was scheduled originally to begin on June 12, the opening of the long awaited second front in Europe has been accepted as the opportune time by the Michigan War Savings committee to launch the campaign for the sale of War Bonds.

The news dispatches, telling of the use of thousands of warships and planes in shelling and bombing the French invasion coast, give a clear idea of the tremendous cost of modern warfare. Through the purchase of War Bonds, the people on the home front materially aid in the financing of the war effort, thereby backing up the men who are now risking their lives in Normandy, Italy and the South Pacific battle theaters.

D-Day on the coast of Normandy Tuesday was also D-Day for us on the home front. We can take the easy road and buy none or few extra War Bonds, for democracy for which our relatives and friends are dying this minute guarantees us the privilege of self-choice.

This right of self-choice, however, imposed a grave responsibility upon us. As sincere, patriotic citizens we cannot let our men of the armed forces down. The purchase of War Bonds after all is not a home front sacrifice, but a good investment. Besides returning interest on the investment, it also will bring the world out of the darkness of tyranny and oppression into the light of freedom and security.

The Postwar Home

THERE are many families, now investing their surplus earnings in War Bonds, who are making plans already for that "dream home" they will build after the war.

They eagerly read the magazine supplement stories about the fantastic gadgets the ultra-modern home will have, all of which increases their anxiety for the arrival of the day when actual construction work will begin.

Quite likely, however, the postwar home will be pretty much like the present day dwelling, with some refinements made possible through the use of light metals, plywood and plastics. Few families will venture into solar heating, electronic cooking and the modernistic designs.

Articles and pictures of the glamorous postwar "dream homes" serve a useful purpose, nevertheless. They provide interesting reading and are whetting the public's desire for homes of their own. All of this will help to pave the way for making America a better place to live in after the war.

4-H Given Boost

APPOINTMENT of a 4-H club agent to work with the boys and girls of Delta county is additional recognition of the value of this junior farmers program to the war effort. The 4-H club program is being encouraged throughout the country for it has been found that the rural boys and girls have been able to help much in relieving the manpower shortage on the farms. The training they have received in the fundamentals of agriculture in their various club projects has enabled many of them to assume the responsibilities of farm management.

The 4-H club program has been active in Delta county under the leadership of County Agent E. A. Wenner, who has directed the work in connection with his regular duties as agricultural adviser. The addition of Club Agent Earl Willette to the staff will make possible the expansion of this highly worthwhile movement.

The War on T-B

THIS country has done a good job on tuberculosis, but it could do better. Through research and treatment, through state-built sanatoriums and the yearly purchase of Christmas seals by millions of Americans, tuberculosis mortality has been reduced by more than half in the past 30 years.

Tuberculosis is much more prevalent in wartime. Thus far, fortunately, there has been no notable rise among civilians except in three industrial states. But as the war continues, it is likely that the rise may come, through long hours of heavy work that millions of Americans are doing, even though the nutritional level remains high.

The United States Public Health Service has X-rayed about three-quarters of a million war workers in the past year. It was found that 1.3 per cent of them had tuberculosis. Of that 1.3 per cent, 60 per cent had minimal cases, 30 per cent were moderately advanced, and 7 per cent were far advanced.

Before these tests were taken, only 10 per cent of patients presenting themselves at sanatoriums had minimal cases. The rest were advanced. The contrast clearly shows there is much tuberculosis that can be detected and cured early, if facilities for diagnosis and treatment are more easily available and educational activities are expanded with a view of inducing more people to undergo examination.

THE "GRIPSHOLM" MISSION (From Wauson Daily Record-Herald)

"The Gripsholm will be full of history and incident when this war is over. More than any civilian vessel sailing the seven seas will be freighted with historic memories. The plain, factual statements of her log would make a best-seller, one would suppose, and if there is a member of her crew with a gift for writing, he should find material for half a dozen books in what he has seen and heard aboard her. She's a neutral link between bitter enemies, sailing always on a voyage of humanity and mercy, and for thousands she has been the gateway from despair to new hope.

On the Gripsholm anxious married couples have been re-united which neither knew if the other were still living. On her children have been born, old friends have met after long separation, and pining prisoners, suffering from worry and despondency, have miraculously been returned to health and hope.

I think the story of the Gripsholm that will longest be remembered is that of the bountiful hospitality prepared by her ship's company for those poor, half-starved Americans whom she took aboard at Diego Suarez in Madagascar after they had been unloaded by some Nipponese "kaisha" or other, after a long voyage on which they were fed on rice and pickled fish. Do you recall the elaborate "smorgasbord" that the Swedish captain and crew prepared for our emaciated compatriots? It had everything, the dispatches reported, that ever was served in a smorgasbord—which means that it must have looked like Heaven's own bounty to men and women who for months and years had been living on the yellow man's meager wartime rations.

I recall that some of them broke down and wept at the sight of the high piled tables of dainties; that others gorged themselves to the point of illness—and that many of them found themselves unable to eat at all, or at least to do more than nibble, because their stomachs had so shrunk from the insufficient Japanese supplies.

That was a gesture which showed, if proof were needed, where Sweden's sympathies and hopes lie in this war. The Swedes are neutral, but that doesn't prevent them from knowing the difference between Axis perfidy and the half-bewildered, dogged determination of the United Nations.

I think the American congress during or after this war, ought to cite for decoration, by a special medal, the officers and crew of the Gripsholm for this and a hundred other instances of kindness and sympathy for our sorely beset countrymen. We should be first-class ingrates if we did not realize how much their kindness has meant to so many Americans—and those of other United Nations who have come back with them from the dark places of the earth."

THE YANKS IN BRITAIN (Christian Science Monitor)

A British humorist, running into American soldiers in every restaurant, music hall, pub, train and bus, recently remarked: "There's only four things the matter with these Yanks: They're over-ranked, overpaid, over-girl-conscious, and over here."

Of course he was joking. But, as Leland Stowe said on the radio the other night, think what might happen in Indiana and Illinois if two million British soldiers were suddenly poured into that area and there were 45 million Americans there instead of 11 million. Suppose, too, they were paid twice as much as American soldiers and could crowd into all the best restaurants and places of amusement, while the home lads had to stand outside.

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

If Governor Dewey is nominated, a lot is going to be said for and against the men who are his advisers and co-workers. This column has already described some of those who advise him on public policies. On the side of organization politics, the name of Edwin P. Jaeckle, New York State Republican Chairman, will soon have national interest. What sort of man is he, and what are his relations with the Governor?

Jaeckle will receive the raps the political organizer usually gets. Jim Farley went through that kind of thing and came out of it smiling. Jaeckle is not the man to smile so easily, but he will be equally unfruffled. He has no apologies for his interest in politics, for he believes in party government. He has been a successful lawyer in Buffalo for twenty years, and no one has suggested that he must depend upon politics for a living. He is exceedingly proud of his long interest and activity in Republican politics. He never met Dewey until the party convention at Saratoga Springs in 1938, when Dewey was nominated for Governor the first time. Jaeckle's good showing in that campaign established him firmly as the head of the Republican State Committee. There has been little dissension in the six years since.

—JAECKLE ADMIRES DEWEY—

He has a deep admiration for Dewey, but he cannot be classed as a political stepfather of the Governor. Neither can he be called a servitor of the young man who has come so far in public importance. Dewey, he says, has what the party needs—courage, capacity and the capacity for hard work.

His relations with Dewey are based on that point of view. Neither issues orders to the other. On occasion, they stand toe to toe and argue out a difficult political angle. But such incidents only leave each man liking the other more than ever. Jaeckle knows that Dewey is not a man who is either easily flattered or intimidated, although he can take stiff opposition as long as it is backed by reasonable evidence. People are going to learn that about Dewey as Jaeckle has, a long time since.

—WHO'LL BE CHAIRMAN—

Whether Jaeckle will be National Chairman if Dewey is nominated is not yet clear. There are three other leading political figures in New York, all of whom have the confidence of Jaeckle and Dewey. They are Russell Sprague, National Committeeman for New York, Herbert Brownell, a lawyer in New York City who was Dewey's campaign manager in 1942, and Paul Lockwood, the Governor's secretary. One of these possibly Brownell, may be campaign manager under a national chairman. Someone else may be National Chairman, but it is a good bet that Jaeckle will be it, if he wants the job. For Dewey is loyal to his friends, and Jaeckle is one of the best of them.

Then add an order from the War Department that every home in certain towns must take in a soldier for a few cents a week, plus a few cents more if he were an officer (and the money hardly paid you for the soap to wash his sheets).

That's practically the situation Britain faces with all those Yanks over there in totally new surroundings. The enforced mixing of two peoples, even though they are supposed to speak the same language, is always difficult. Some friction, some trouble, has been reported. There have been questions in the House of Commons about the conduct of some American soldiers. But on the whole they have not behaved badly and their British hosts have appeared to like them. On both sides thousands of individual friendships have been formed which have broken through barriers of strangeness and prejudice.

Full understanding is a flower of slow growth, but in the comradeship of this war large numbers of Britons and Americans have made a good beginning.

TWO GOVERNORS (Cleveland Plain Dealer)

As readers of this newspaper know, it was never able to become very enthusiastic about Gov. John W. Bricker's presidential aspirations. That was true largely because it felt his declared positions on important matters of foreign policy were lacking a bit in forthrightness. His declarations in favor of American participation in world affairs seemed somehow to be just a little less than all-out.

In contrast with our disappointment on this score we are pleased to observe that today Gov. Bricker is the one candidate for the Republican nomination who is vocal in his opposition to the New Deal and is not afraid to speak his mind on domestic issues and policies.

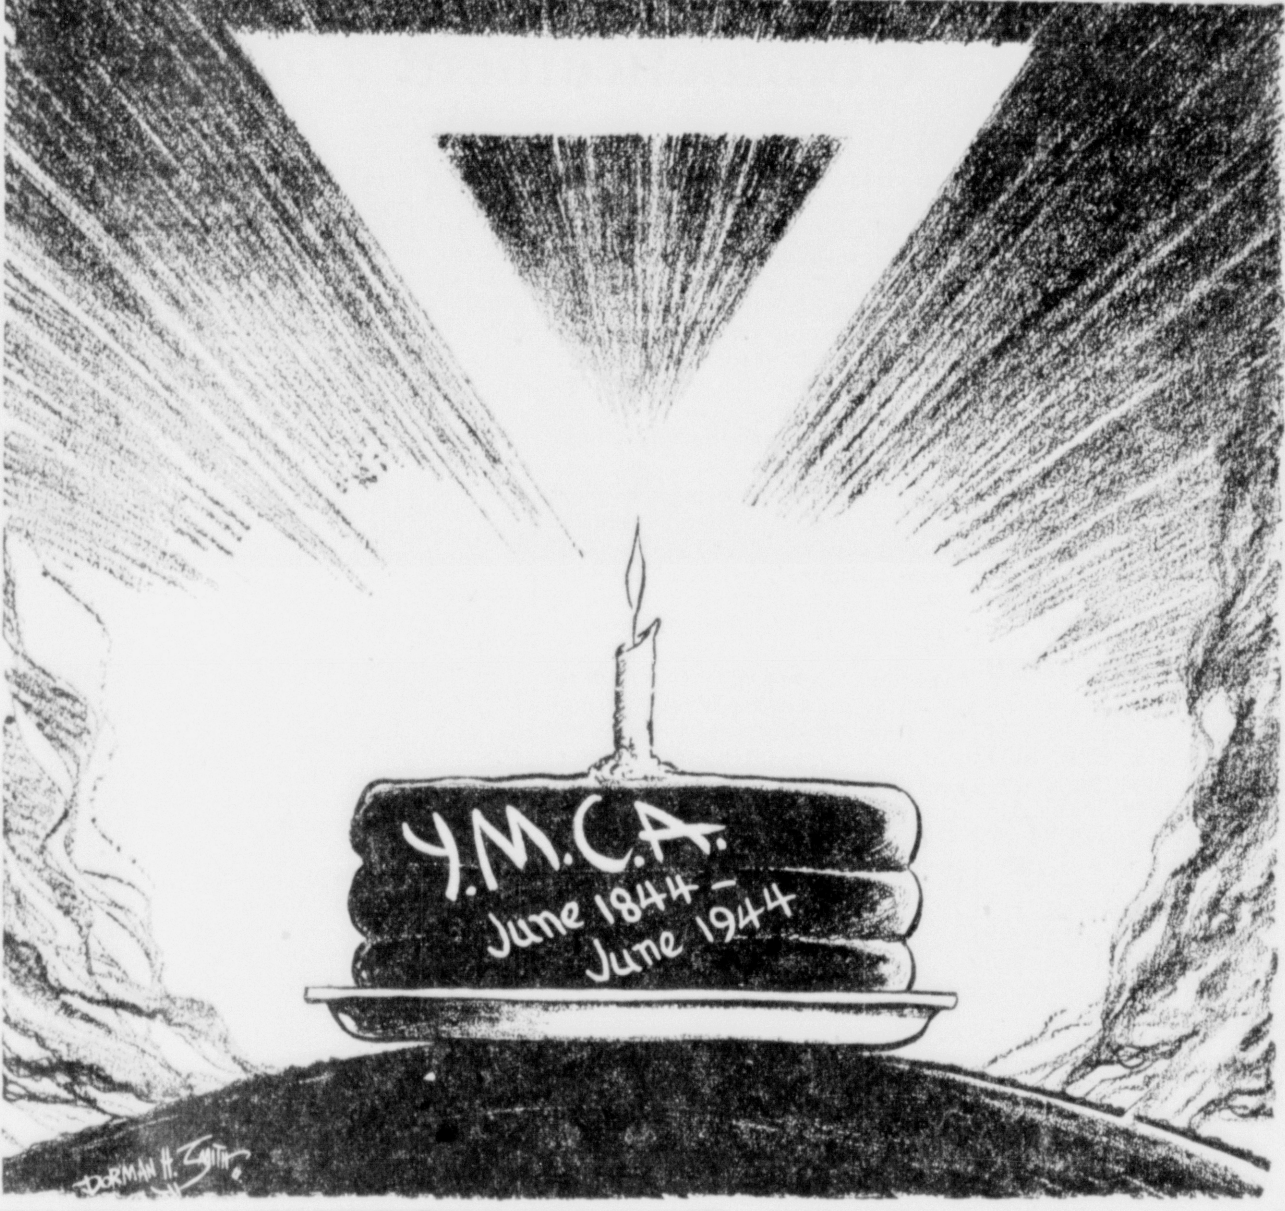

At the conference of governors yesterday, for example, when Gov. Neely of Nebraska asked for an expression from Gov. Dewey and Gov. Bricker as to the place of federal aid in postwar local planning the former's answer was that the question placed him in an embarrassing position.

Bricker, on the other hand, promptly took the stand that the conference should go on record as favoring a policy of state and local responsibility, that the federal government would be heavily involved in debt, while the fiscal position of state and local governments would be relatively favorable.

Not only was Bricker's answer to the point but his observation that "it should not be embarrassing for any governor to express his position on matters of that kind" was a mild and well-justified reproach of Gov. Dewey, who, it seems to us, is in danger of outsmarting himself in his obvious eagerness to win the Republican nomination.

The American people like frankness in public officials and are inclined to be suspicious of those who prefer to be cryptic. Dewey will do his candidacy no good by taking the "cryptic" leaf from the book of the present president.

Good Morning! INTO THE PAST

By The Bugler

ON THE NOSE—Many an amateur and semi-professional prognosticator have been making predictions for the week at the Argonne Gardens is announced. Miss Hollman is a fan dancer.

Gladstone — "Massacre", the moving picture based on the book of the same title by Robert Gessner of Escanaba, is playing at the Rialto theater.

Manistique — Bob Becker, nationally known sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, spent last week end at Blaney Park.

Dredging at the Chicago and North Western dock in Escanaba was at a standstill Wednesday as result of a general strike of tugmen on the Great Lakes.

20 Years Ago—1924

Tokio—A dance in progress at the Imperial Hotel, attended by several Americans, was broken up by a group of Japanese ruffians without interference from the police. The incident indicates the growing feeling against Americans as result of recent legislation excluding Japanese from the United States.

Chicago—A boyish plot was revealed today by Richard Loebe and Nathan Reopold, Jr., in the kidnapping and killing of Bobby Franks.

Gladstone—The Rev. C. E. Alston, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, will leave Tuesday for DeKalb, Ill., where he will represent the Gladstone church at the Augustana Synod's annual meeting.

25 Years Ago—1919

The Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment will be passed by the Michigan state legislature by an overwhelming majority, in the opinion of Senator W. A. Lemire of Escanaba.

Charles R. Johnson will arrive home this week from San Forde, Texas, after having been discharged from service.

THOSE SUPERMEN — The three Nazis who escaped from a woods camp near Au Train late Saturday or early Sunday morning were recaptured about 7:30 a. m. Tuesday. They were captured by one state police trooper and a conservation officer of Newberry.

There was no fight.

The Nazi "supermen" were cold, reported the state policeman. Shades of a Russian winter!

Here our gardeners have considered the temperature a little unseasonable—but cold! It is an insult. George Bishop of the U. P. Development Bureau will certainly hear about it.

The Nazis were not only cold, they had been bitten by mosquitoes, had to sleep under trees and in bushes, and avoid highways and settlements.

It only goes to show that the vaunted ability of the "supermen" is so much Goebbels' ballyhoo—as the Russians proved quite awhile ago.

One thing stands out. The eldest of the three Nazis, considered a dangerous sadist even by his own kind, gave up without a struggle. The Upper Peninsula's June climate was too much for him.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON (Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—White House insiders say that the President gave a great deal of thought to the timing of his permanent world peace plans.

Here are the factors which caused him to launch his plan at this particular moment:

1. The Republican National convention will now have to endorse the general thesis of world cooperation or else face the charge of heading the country toward another war. If F.D.R. had waited much longer, he might have been accused of springing the plan too late for the Republicans to consider things properly prior to the meeting in Chicago, June 26.

2. F. D. R. saw his old chief, Woodrow Wilson, wait until Europe no longer needed U. S. support to win the war, no longer needed food and relief. In contrast, the United States is at the peak of its war contribution, also at the peak of its bargaining power for peace-for-future machinery. The President decided to use that bargaining power when it had the greatest leverage.

3. Churchill's recent speech in Parliament proposing world rule by the Big Powers, also helped precipitate announcement of the plan. The President some time ago accepted the Sumner Welles thesis that the little nations must play an important part in the post-war set-up and it was considered a good idea to remind Churchill of this.

4. U. S. prestige with European nations—Sweden, France, Jugoslavia, Spain, Ireland—is at a low ebb. So it was considered a good time to remind them that the U. S. A. is still a friend.

NOTE—One difference between Cordell Hull and Sumner Welles which led to their break-up was post-war peace planning. Welles long had argued that the time to develop the peace machinery of the world was now—before the war was over.

Mr. Hull, up until he went to Russia last fall, had informed Senators that future peace machinery should be put off until after the war and left entirely to the State Department to decide.

—GERMANY'S SMART CHOICES—

U. S. experts who have studied the Nazi military set-up to resist invasion figure that Hitler—whoever did the picking for him—was smart in his selection of German military leaders. Three of the best men in the German Army have been given the job of combating what the Nazis know is the death thrust at Germany.

No. 1 is Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, considered the best strategist and over all commander in Germany. Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, immediately under him, is the best man for lightning moves and panzer tactics.

Finally, Colonel General Heinz Guderian is considered the best tank commander in the German Army.

U. S. experts, who believe in looking facts in the face, classify these three as among the top military brains of Europe. However, what size and caliber of troops they have been able to spare from the Russian front may be more important than generals.

—CAPITOL CHAFF—

Crack Air Ace Major de Seversky has been doing something besides design new planes lately. He has been dancing jigs before one-legged U. S. soldiers in hospitals to show them what a one-legged man can do if he has to. Seversky had his right leg shot off in World War I, but he says it was a godsend because he was able to smuggle $50,000 out of Russia in his wooden leg. His visits have given a lot of cheer and hope to one-legged veterans. . . . Ranting Representative Rankin of Mississippi says he has it all set so Presidential electors will not vote for Roosevelt in the Electoral College but pass the buck to the House of Representatives where he plans to have Harry Byrd elected President. . . . Jim Farley is reported to have helped hatch the plan to have the Electoral College revolt against Roosevelt. Apparently Jim did it during his soft drink migrations around the country. . . . Congratulations to Lt. Harry B. Paul Barnhart for bringing laughs to the boys in the South Pacific with his Army show "Stars and Gripes". . . . Governor Willis of Kentucky is getting the reputation among Kentuckians of veering toward petticoat influence in the Palace. Mr. Willis seems to have quite a bit of influence.

ARCHIE FARRELL, IRON MT., DIES

Was Lumbering Operator
At Foster City For Many Years

Archie P. Farrell, 81, Iron Mountain, pioneer lumberman and former Dickinson county sheriff, died at the Iron Mountain General hospital 1:25 a. m. Wednesday after a prolonged illness. He was the father of Lawrence L. Farrell, Escanaba, director of the district OPA office.

Mr. Farrell was born in Flatlands, N. B., Canada, Nov. 17, 1873, and in 1880 moved to Foster City, where he obtained employment as a cruiser with the A. M. Harmon Lumber company. He was appointed superintendent in 1887, serving in that capacity until 1890 when the Harmon company sold out to the Morgan Lumber company. Mr. Farrell remained with the Morgan firm until 1903, when he entered the lumbering business for himself. Seven years later, he disposed of his interests to the Parkinson Cedar company of Hardwood, but remained as superintendent for two years until it was sold to the Spies Cedar company of Menominee. He also was employed with the Spies concern for several years.

Mr. Farrell was long active in Breen township politics, and served on the first board of county road commissioners in Dickinson county. After serving as sheriff, he settled in Iron Mountain and was city assessor for several years, holding that position until his death.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Lawrence of Escanaba, Charles of Lansing, one daughter, Mrs. Carl Gueff, Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Coot-ware, Milwaukee, and Isabelle Farrell, Chicago, and a brother, Hugh, Milwaukee.

Funeral services will be held at the church of S. S. Mary and Joseph in Iron Mountain 9 a. m. Friday with Rev. Fr. A. C. Pelissier as the celebrant at the solemn requiem high mass. Burial will be in the Foster City cemetery.

Mr. Farrell was a charter member of the Knights of Columbus and Elks lodges, and was awarded an honorary life membership in the former a few months ago.

Briefly Told

Air Patrol Meeting—The regular weekly meeting of the Escanaba Civil Air Patrol unit will be held Friday night at 7:30 at the airport. School graduates and students expecting to enter army service soon are invited to attend.

LIGHT FROST IS REPORTED HERE

Damage To Crops Only Minor And Very Spotty

A light to heavy frost was reported in various localities of Delta county yesterday morning, but a survey indicated damage to garden crops was minor and spotty.

The official minimum temperature in Escanaba was 38 degrees but considerably lower temperatures were reported in some other areas, particularly in Ford River where temperatures as low as 31 were reported.

Damage to garden crops was confined to such vegetable plants as beans, cucumbers and tomatoes. The damage, however, was very spotty, some garden plots suffering considerably more than adjoining plots.

Several of the garden plots in the community Victory Gardens on South 23rd street were damaged by the frost, it was reported.

In general, however, damage was light as the commercial growers of beans and other tender vegetables reported that their crops either were not in foliage or had merely broken through the soil.

Liberation Of Rome Will Hasten Victory

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The liberation of Rome by allied troops is bound to speed up the march toward victory. While its strategic value may be doubtful, especially in view of the task of feeding a large civilian population, its prestige value is very high.

Then, too, the taking of the city redeems an earlier failure which has been the subject of much discussion among military men. At the time the Anzio Beachhead was established, German resistance was so tight that our forces might have pushed on to the capital itself.

The orders under which the American commander was operating specified, however, that the invasion should halt at a certain point. Those orders were not exceeded, as they might have been if individual commanders had been prepared to take risks.

Meanwhile, the Germans brought up reinforcements and the stalemate at Anzio followed. Subsequently, as Secretary of War Stimson revealed at a recent press conference, the command was changed.

Learning From Experience

What happened at Anzio and the aftermath have been thoroughly studied by military leaders. They feel it was a lesson learned, particularly in relation to the big push from England. They believe that, in similar circumstances today, an allied commander would not hesitate to exceed his authority and take advantage of the kind of opening that existed for a time at Anzio.

The important point is that the military try to learn from experience.

I wish as much could be said for leadership on the home front. Procrastination, indifference and political maneuvering seem to be the order here in Washington. In at least two fields, this can have disastrous effects for the war and the peace.

Although the first proposal for authorization of funds for the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration went up to Congress in January, it was not until last Saturday that the house got around to making money available to the organization that must carry out relief in liberated areas. And then the amount was reduced by nearly half. The house approved $450,000,000 after cutting out an additional $250,000,000 which would have been transferred from lend-lease funds.

While Republicans voted almost solidly against the $250,000,000 transfer, minority leader Joe Martin indicated there would be no objection if the senate restored this amount. So now the senate has a chance to make up for the error.

Speed Is Important

The essential thing is speed. Most of the other big powers have already made their share of the UNRRA fund available. The United States lags behind.

It isn't just a question of our self-respect in meeting an obligation we agreed to. Governor Let-man, the director of UNRRA, has been seriously handicapped in preparing for the task of feeding and clothing Europe's destitute.

He has been unable to take advantage of surpluses now glutting the food market. Plans and preparations have had to be conditional on when money would be in hand. This could well mean added suffering and starvation for millions of innocent victims of the war. It could mean social and political chaos in Europe.

An almost equally serious situation comes out of the delay in acting on legislation providing for the change-over of industry from war to peace. Short of a magic wand to be waved over the land, the job must be laid out and defined or we'll get confusion worse confounded here at home.

No one, least of all its authors, argues that the Baruch-Hancock plan is a blueprint for a perfect new society. The authors of that reconversion plan had their sights fixed on a fundamental objective—getting war contracts and war machinery out of the way so that peacetime production could begin.

The senate has already adopted a measure which would carry out the basic objectives of the Baruch-Hancock plan. Sponsors of a similar proposal in the house for action this week or, at the latest, by the first of next week. Perfectionists arguing for a more inclusive reconversion plan might well, as Baruch has said, quibble as in to a panic if peace should break out suddenly.

Conceivably, events could happen fast from now on out. Let's be ready. Let's not end the war with another kind of Pearl Harbor.

the Sahara. That was when he was running our African Bomber Force that was plastering the Tunisian ports.

General Doolittle flew in one afternoon from the far forward airbase of Youks Les Bains. The night before his entire crew except for the co-pilot had been killed in a German bombing at the Youks field.

His crew had manned their planes guns until it got too hot, and then made a run for an old bomb crater 50 yards away. It was one of those heartbreaking freaks of hard luck. A bomb hit the crater just as they reached it, and blew them all to pieces.

General Doolittle has written hundreds, perhaps thousands, of letters to people who have lost sons or husbands in his Air Forces. But one of the men in that crew was the hardest subject he has ever had to write home about. Here is the reason.

When he led the famous raid on Tokyo, Doolittle had a mechanic who had been with him a long time. Doolittle was a colonel then. The mechanic went on the Tokyo raid with him.

You remember the details of that raid, which have gradually seeped out. The planes were badly scattered. Some were shot down over Japanese territory. Others ran out of gas. Some of the crews bailed out. Others landed in Russia. The remainder splattered themselves all over the rice paddies of China.

That night Doolittle was lower than he had ever been before in his life. There wasn't any humor in the world for him that night. He sat with his head down and thought to himself:

"You have bailed up the biggest chance anybody could ever have. You have sure made a mess of this affair. You've lost most of your planes. The whole thing was a miserable failure. You'll spend the rest of your life in Leavenworth for this, and be lucky to get out of it that easy."

As he sat there this sergeant-mechanic came up and said: "Don't feel so bad about it, Colonel."

Doolittle paid no attention. But the sergeant kept at him.

"It's not as bad as it seems. Why, I'll bet you that within a year you'll have a Congressional Medal for it and be a Brigadier General."

Doolittle just snorted.

"Well, I'll bet you so," the sergeant said. "And I'd like to ask one thing. As long as you're flying I'd like to be your mechanic."

That finally got inside Doolittle's gloom. Somebody had confidence in him. He began to buck up. So he said:

"Son, as long as I've got an airplane you're its mechanic, even if we live to be a thousand years old."

As you know, he did get a Congressional Medal of honor, and

Violet Mattson
Is the Bride of
Peter Collegnon

Miss Violet Mattson, daughter of Carl Mattson of Gladstone, Route One, and Peter Collegnon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Collegnon, of 1018 North 18th street, were united in marriage at a ceremony which took place Saturday afternoon, June 5, at five o'clock, at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Johnson, 1202 North 19th street.

The service was read by Rev. David L. Carlson, in an attractive setting formed by an arrangement of white and yellow lilies and white and purple lilies which decorated the home.

Attendants were Miss Lucille Collegnon, sister of the bridegroom, and Carl Mattson, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a deep violet colored suit with pink and brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Her bridesmaid wore a pale green suit with yellow and brown, and yellow roses formed her corsage.

Mrs. Collegnon, mother of the bridegroom, wore a green flowered dress with a corsage of dark pink roses.

The wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, with covers for thirty guests. The three-tiered wedding cake centered the appointments, with white tapers and flowers at either end of the table.

The couple will live in Mayville, Wis., where Mr. Collegnon is employed by the Tool and Die company.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Edward Collegnon and son, David, of Gladstone.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-204: Martin G., aged 32, is a clergyman who recently moved to a large city church.

"I used to grow irate at your occasional criticism of the oratory in many pulpits," he acknowledged.

"And when you stated the old adage that if you want to fill a church, you must first fill the pulpit, I openly challenged your statement."

"But my wife suggested that I take a scientific attitude and test your principles. She said it wasn't fair to say you were wrong until I had tried your plan."

"So I gradually began, although I secretly recognized that I had not been able to attract crowds, nor had my salary been increased in five years."

"I deliberately began to glean the newspaper for examples with which to illustrate my sermon. I tactfully named at least three parishioners in every sermon, bringing them into the discussion by means of some story with which they were connected."

Christ's Public Speaking Formula
"My wife encouraged me each week. She even dug up an old Case Record in which you mentioned that Professor Henry H. Goddard of Ohio State University and one of the leading psychologists of America, had said he bought a supply of magic tricks with which to help hold the attention of the students when he first began teaching."

"I did likewise, and used whatever materials I could employ for moral examples. It worked like magic, too, for young people began to stay for church. Their parents also perked up in interest."

"And now I have been chosen by a city church at three times my former salary. My opportunities are so much larger, too, and I have new zest for the ministry, for parishioners now urge their friends to attend, saying they'll hear a most interesting and inspiring sermon."

Why Jesus Drew Big Crowds
Jesus didn't draw big crowds because he was the Son of God, for if his contemporaries had believed that fact, they never would have permitted his crucifixion.

The crowds came because Jesus was a topnotch orator and storyteller. Please notice my terms "orator" and "storyteller" for you'll find that every great orator employs Christ's "anecdotal formula."

It is a sure-fire method for making an interesting speech, whether you are a professional or only an amateur.

Perhaps 20 per cent of our American clergy are admirable speakers, but at the other end of the scale there is another 25 per cent that put audiences to sleep and cause the churches to close their doors.

A clergyman who cannot make an interesting speech is probably driving more people away from religion than a topnotch orator can attract.

But our poor speakers often

SPEAKS VOWS—Mrs. John Paul Kangas, whose wedding day was Wednesday, May 31, is the former Doreen Villeneuve, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Villeneuve, of 1511 Seventh Avenue South. live in logic-tight compartments where their vanity will not permit them to recognize their own failure. They will read this Case Record today, and never dream that I am referring to them, but think I mean some other clergyman in the town.

Clergymen, wake up! Analyze your oratory. Why remain 25 years in the pulpit and still be a poor speaker, when any intelligent man can make an interesting speech with a few hours study of Christ's formula.

Send for this "Formula for an Interesting Speech," enclosing 3¢ stamped envelope, plus a dime. Jesus used this formula, for it was from his speeches that I derived it.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3¢ stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Elmer Jenerou Gets In Tight Spot With Mother Bear, Cubs

Elmer Jenerou knows what it's like to be in a tight spot. He came in from the north last week-end and told this bear story:

Riding with Charles Jenerou in a truck on the Duck Creek trail, 14 miles north of Manistique, Elmer noticed two small cub bears. He jumped out of the truck and tried to catch one, "Just for the fun of it." The cubs scampered up a nearby tree with Elmer in pursuit. About that time the old female bear made her appearance.

"I was sure in a spot," Elmer relates. "There was the old bear getting ready to come up the tree. The cubs were above me and the old bear was below me. If I jumped down, I would have surely been killed. To make matters worse, Chuck started the truck and I thought he was going to drive away and leave me. But he didn't."

The result was—and Elmer says it didn't take long either—that Elmer crawled up to the cubs and forced them to climb down the tree to the mother bear below. In short order the mother bear escorted her cubs into the woods. Then Elmer was able to climb down the tree and get into the truck.

POSTWAR PLANS NOT LAGGING

Manistique Is Ahead Of
Most Michigan Cities,
Says Heitman

Assurance that Manistique is not lagging in its postwar planning was given by city councilman A. W. Heitman in a talk before the Lions club Tuesday evening.

On the contrary, he said, in view of information on hand, this city is well ahead of most Michigan cities in planning for the post-war period.

He revealed for the first time that the council has been quietly working behind the scenes for the past several weeks. Five engineering firms have been called here to spend long hours with the council and the manager in the study of water, sewage, streets and sidewalks. These engineering firms, two from Chicago, two from Ann Arbor and one from Saginaw are specialists in their lines, Heitman said, and have been called in to help the council to decide what should be done in Manistique.

Council's Plans
First in importance of the projects, regardless of postwar work, is the water supply, Heitman said. Although the city has a $19,000 well which failed, there is inadequate engineering data available from this drilling as to the types of sand and hardness of the water at the various levels. It would therefore be necessary to drill a test well to secure the needed information, he pointed out. It may be necessary to provide a treatment plant if the well water is not sufficiently soft, the speaker said.

Engineers have stated that the Indian River would be worth a million dollars to many cities, Heitman said. This river water has been used successfully for many years with no treatment other than chlorination. The city will endeavor to learn whether or not the river water can still be used safely and economically. A spot check of the intake pipe will be made to ascertain how long it can be used without replacement. Engineers will decide whether the river water can be perfected through the use of a filtration plant and a treatment plant, he said. Then the council will weigh the well water and the river water supplies from a standpoint of quality and economy and decide which source the city can use to best advantage.

To provide a long-term project of street, sidewalk and sewer improvement, the city must first complete a survey. Heitman stated that a contract is being let to a master plan for grade levels for all sidewalks, sewers and streets in the city. From such a survey the city could at any time construct a portion of the work; using the grade levels set in the master plan, Heitman said he believed that the proposed master grade plan is the first of its kind in this city. It will result in more efficient work, and will save the taxpayers considerable money, he believes. It will be possible, as a result of such a master plan, to set up projects which will entail many man-hours. Projects requiring much labor will doubtless be needed in the postwar era, the speaker declared.

Sewage Disposal
Plans for a sewage disposal plant is being held up pending more information from the state of Michigan as to the need for such a plant here. Because of the great volume of water in the Indian river, where sewage is piped, Heitman believes that by placing a partial treatment plant here, it will meet the sanitation requirements of the State.

Your city council is making haste slowly," Heitman declared. "We feel that the fault of most projects is too hasty and inadequate planning and engineering in advance. We are trying to approach this thing in a logical manner, bearing in mind the tremendous costs of all of these major projects. It may be necessary to finance a great portion of this work ourselves. We don't know yet. Therefore, economy is one of the governing factors in our planning."

"The Postwar Planning Commission here has done a great job and we are cooperating with them one hundred percent. It is our job now to decide which projects should be carried on, with a view to providing the city with necessary improvements as well as providing our returning servicemen with work in the readjustment period. We will surely have our preliminary plans submitted by the deadline—November 1, and then we will have until next July to complete the details of the proposed projects."

He discussed briefly some of the other projects that have been proposed. The community building, he said, is worthy of considerable thought, but first the county officials and city officials should get together and decide the purposes of such a building. It may be possible to incorporate a jail in such a building, which could be used jointly by the city and county. Or they may decide to construct a new jail and sheriff's residence, he said. These problems must be analyzed before any action is taken.

Aircraft movements handled by the Civil Aeronautics Administration traffic control centers increased from about 25,000 a month in 1933 to over a million a month in 1943.

Mother of Mrs. E. Nelson Stricken

Mrs. Carl A. Anderson, wife of the late Rev. Carl A. Anderson and known to her many Manistique friends as the mother of Mrs. Ernest Nelson, died suddenly May 23 of a heart attack. It was learned here this week.

She had made her home with Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Nelson of the Bethel Baptist church here for a number of years, and was well known in this vicinity.

At the time of her death she was on a train near New York City on her return trip to Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where Chaplain and Mrs. Ernest Nelson are stationed. She had been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Reuben Anderson of Hackensack, New Jersey. She had been on the train for only 20 minutes when she was stricken. Burial was in Hackensack where her husband, who died six years ago, is interred.

Mrs. Gauthier Gets Radio Message From Her Son, A Prisoner

Mrs. Henry Gauthier, 102 Maple street, received the following telegram recently containing information from her son, Gerard W. Gauthier, a prisoner of the Japanese since the fall of Bataan.

"Following short wave broadcast from Japan has been intercepted. Quote I am in good health and do not worry. I received the box which you sent last August and also four letters, two from you and one each from Margaret and Aunt Edna. Thank them for writing and if you can, send another box. Send a choice of the following: cigarettes, dehydrated food articles. Tell Bernie and Margaret to write. Send pictures in all letters. Some of you and Dad also. Please send packages and letters as often as possible. Check on my insurance through the war department. I am very glad to hear that Grandmother is in good health and please send her my regards. How does Dad feel now that he is a grandfather. I bet he is growing a beard and using a cane. Tell Uncle Noe that he will not have that job very long after I get back. Tell Bruce I said hello. Charlie sure has a fine looking baby. I hope we can change his name to Phillip the sixth. Your son, Gerard. Unquote."

The wire was sent by the acting provost marshal general, Washington, D. C.

OLSON AWAITS NAVY ORDERS

School Principal Sworn In As Lieutenant, Junior Grade

Carl Olson, 37, principal of the Manistique high school for the past 10 years, has been commissioned a lieutenant, junior grade, in the United States Navy and was sworn in last Saturday at the Milwaukee Office of Naval Officer Procurement, it has been announced.

Olson is now awaiting orders to active duty. His application for a naval commission was pending for some time before he was notified last week that he had been accepted for a commission as a junior grade lieutenant.

Olson has specialized in chemistry.

Will Organize Veteran Affairs Council Tonight

Civic leaders of Manistique and vicinity will meet tonight in the court house to organize a local Council of Veterans' Affairs.

Invitations to all service groups and civic organizations have been extended, asking that representatives be sent to the organization meeting on June 8.

Local Council of Veterans' Affairs is the result of state legislation enacted last winter, setting up an office of Veterans' Affairs in Lansing. This office in turn is assisting each community in organizing a Local Council of Veterans' Affairs.

It will be the function of this Council to assist the servicemen who are returning from the armed forces to their home communities. A veterans' counseling center will be set up, according to the state master plan, and through this center the veteran will be given rehabilitation assistance. Committees on re-employment, new placement, rehabilitation, physically and mentally, education, vocational, health and mental health will be set up. The Selective Service and many other federal agencies will function in this work.

5TH WAR LOAN UNDERWAY HERE

D-Day Marks Beginning
Of Drive Here For
$347,000

Sparked by the news of Europe's invasion, the Fifth War Loan machine began operating in Schoolcraft county Tuesday afternoon.

Official instructions to go ahead were received by local County Chairman Fred H. Hahne from Frank N. Isbey, state chairman, Tuesday.

The telegram text follows:
Fred H. Hahne
Manistique, Michigan

As far as we are concerned the Fifth War Loan drive starts today. We want the entire War Finance organization to go all out today, and the people themselves to voluntarily buy bonds like they have never bought before without being asked.

Frank N. Isbey, chairman U. S. Treasury war finance committee for Michigan; by L. R. Hadley, Marquette.

Copies of this telegram have been made and were distributed Tuesday evening to all merchants and other bond selling agencies, as well as all county chairmen in the bond drive.

Schoolcraft county bond sales forces are faced with the largest quota in history. Total sales must reach $347,000, and $292,000 of this is earmarked as sales to individuals. The magnitude of the job and the best methods of attaining the quota were explained at a bond rally banquet two weeks ago. At that time L. B. Hadley, U. S. bond chairman, was principal speaker, and more than 75 persons attended the meeting. The Fifth War Loan drive will officially close July 8.

W. G. STEPHENS TO HEAD BOARD

Justice Of Peace Named Chairman Of Rationing Office

Lawrence L. Farrell, district director of the Office of Price administration, Escanaba, announced the appointment yesterday of Judge William G. Stephens as chairman of the Schoolcraft County War Price and Rationing board.

Judge Stephens succeeds G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk, who has served in the capacity of board chairman since January 5, 1942.

In making the announcement Farrell said, "It is with regret that we accept Mr. Bouschor's resignation as he has done an outstanding job for the Office of Price administration. Mr. Bouschor is a candidate for re-election to the county clerk's position and it would not be fair to him or to the Office of Price administration if he were to continue in office as chairman of the board."

Judge Stephens is well known throughout Schoolcraft county and Farrell stated that, "Because of his past record, we have no doubt that the price and rationing programs in Schoolcraft county will continue to enjoy successful operation under Judge Stephens' supervision."

Olson is now awaiting orders to active duty. His application for a naval commission was pending for some time before he was notified last week that he had been accepted for a commission as a junior grade lieutenant.

Newhouser Walks Nine Batters And White Sox Take Tigers, 1 To 1

BENGALS HELD TO FIVE HITS

Lone Detroit Tally Is Made On Two Passes And Single

Chicago, June 7 (AP)—Hal Newhouser, Detroit southpaw who is the American League's winningest pitcher, failed in his quest for his season's ninth victory tonight when he walked nine White Sox batters in six innings, two of them with the bases loaded, to give the surging Chicagoans a seventh straight victory, 3 to 1.

Right hander Orval Grove pitched five-hit ball as the surging Sox moved to within a half-game of the third place Detroiters. A crowd of 17,180 saw the contest, which opened a series of five games between the teams.

Grove, turning in his season's fifth win against four defeats, hurled shutout ball after Pinky Higgins' single followed two passes for the lone Detroit tally in the first inning.

The Sox tied it up in the third when Newhouser walked Ed Carnett, first baseman, after a pass, Thurman Tucker's single, and a fumble by Shortstop Joe Orsango filled the bases. He walked Grove in the sixth after a pass and single by Mike Tresh and Jim Webb loaded the bases. Tresh scored the plus run a moment later on Vally Moses' long fly.

Detroit — 100 000 000—1 5 1 Chicago — 001 002 000—3 8 0

Newhouser and Swift; Grove and Tresh.

YANKS SWAMPED

Boston, June 7 (AP)—The Red Sox, behind the six hit pitching of Tex Hughson, swamped the New York Yankees, 8-1, today, in the opener of a five-game series.

While the Boston ace was holding the world champions at bay, the Red Sox fell on Hank Borowy for nine of their 12 hits, in the five innings that he worked, including a five-run outburst in the fifth.

Manager Joe Cronin led his team's attack with a double and a two-run homer, the 24th round tripper off Yankee pitching this year.

The victory gave Hughson a record of seven wins and two losses, tying that of Borowy, who lost his second of the year against seven victories.

Score by innings: New York — 000 000 100—1 6 0 Boston — 010 052 000—8 12 0

Borowy, Lyons and Hemsley; Hughson and Wagner.

GAMES TODAY

New York, June 7 (AP)—Probable pitchers for tomorrow's major league ball games (won and lost records in parentheses):

The Philadelphia Phils will conduct a baseball school and tryout camp for Michigan boys between the ages of 16 and 21 at Atwood stadium in Flint June 12-19, inclusive. Karl E. Wilken, Phillie scout, has announced. Eddie Kraljick, Phillie scout in the midwest, will be in charge of the school. Former major league stars will be on hand to give instructions to the youngsters. There is no charge for attendance at the camp, but players must furnish their own equipment.

Ford Frick Gets Timely Note From Lt. Larry French

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
New York, June 7 (AP)—Ford Frick walked briskly into his office. It was Tuesday morning, June 6, and it was a little hard for even a National League president to concentrate much on baseball, what with his head whirling with invasion news which had shunted everything else far into the background.

He thumbed through a stack of mail, and picked out a V-mail letter. At least that would tie in with his thoughts, as it would be from a serviceman.

It was from Larry French — Lieut. Larry French of the U. S. Navy—and as Frick read down through the eye-straining lines of the neatly-typed-written sheet it dawned on him that then, at that very instant, Larry French — undoubtedly was heading an LST through the choppy channel waters or even directing the unloading of a precious cargo of tanks on a shell-shocked beach.

The letter was dated May 18, nearly three weeks before, and Lieut. Larry French left little doubt as to his prospective part in coming events, or his attitude.

Joined a Year Ago
The letter read in part: "This is going to be a great show, and in years to come I will be proud to say I was there in some capacity or other. This staff I am attached to has the landing craft to be used in this operation, and you may rather from that it will be very interesting. Sorry security stops me from telling you more."

It was just a year ago last January that the big southpaw pitcher joined the navy. He needed only three more triumphs to reach the coveted '00-victory mark, and for a time there appeared a hazy chance he might make it.

He was stationed at the Brooklyn navy yard, and, with baseball in something of a turmoil and the clubs a little panicky over the manpower situation even then, he suggested he be allowed to pitch, without remuneration, in weekend games. The navy, then, took down the proposal, and in so doing killed his chances of ever reaching that 200-game goal.

He was 34 years old when he joined up, and although he had had a remarkable season with the Dodgers in 1942, winning 15 games while losing four, he knew he was nearing the end of a major league pitching trail that had started with Pittsburgh in 1929.

Sure, he knew he'd never reach that 200-game goal, but right now he wouldn't trade 1,000 victories for his part in the big show, and Ford Frick was proud as he read the lines too. Baseball is more than a cheering section for the big show. It's men like Lieut. Larry French who are in the heart of it.

Championship Team Riddled By Graduation, Schram Reports

Twenty four track letters were presented to members of the U. P. championship Escanaba high school track squad by Coach Dick Schram Tuesday. The "E" awards were made to 16 seniors, three juniors and five sophomores. In addition a student manager award was made to Roland Baldwin, a senior.

Buddy Young, the sensational Illinois Negro freshman, will go after four victories in the NCAA track meet at Milwaukee Saturday. Young is entered in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, the 220 yard low hurdles and the broad jump. He is seeking to emulate Jesse Owens of Ohio State, another great colored star, who won all four events in 1935 and again in 1936. Principally because of Young, Illinois is favored to take the team title in the National Collegiate meet.

Don Ross, the Tigers' talented utility man, is a jack of all trades on the diamond. Last year he played second, third, short and the outfield and various times and also was used as a pinch hitter. He started as a third baseman at Rivermont, but played both short, third and the outfield with Montreal before joining the Tigers. He is regarded as particularly valuable to the team this year because of the player shortage and because entire Detroit infield is vulnerable to the draft.

Hit and Miss—Over 30,000 fans attended the first six baseball games this season at Camp McCoy. Total season attendance may top the 200,000 mark. House Wagner coach of the Pirates is the oldest major league batting champion still wearing a big league uniform. Wagner led the National League in 1900 and seven other times between 1900 and 1911. The classic howling league at Green Bay has arranged a summer schedule to run nine weeks—with 16 entries. The Peterson point system will govern the play.

Successful Campaign
The Eskymos recently closed a very successful season during which they won the upper peninsula championship and finished the campaign undefeated in their class for the second consecutive year. This year the Eskymos won 28 individual events out of a total of 40 in four meets and was the only team to score points in all events and in all meets.

Of the 57 1/2 points won by Escanaba in winning the peninsula Class B championship, boys who accounted for 52 1/2 will be graduated tonight. It includes all boys who placed either first or second in any meet during the season.

Point winners who will return next year are Elwyn McRae, John Manning, Ken Dufresne and Jack Schell. They will form the nucleus for the 1945 squad, along with Francis Corbett, Bill Peterson, Jim Ross and Cliff Weir, all of whom placed in meets other than the peninsula championship meet.

Other candidates who have promise are Dan Anderson, Dick Dufresne, Lloyd Elison, Dick Gaborie, Paul Gomerac, Ed Hurley, Leo Lancour, Wallace Larson, Bob MacDonald, Bill Meiers, Harold Olson, Don Scott, Frank Shepeck, Howard Sullivan, Donald Theoret, Richard Theoret, Cliff Weir and Don Wickholm.

Thief Takes Ropes From Tennis Nets

A candidate for Escanaba's lowest thief was offered by the city recreation department yesterday although the individual had not claimed the very doubtful honor.

Investigating a report that one of the tennis nets had parted in the middle, the department discovered that ropes had been removed from four of the Ludington Park nets, and attempts to tighten them by the tape only had caused the tear. Some of the nets were brand new having been in use only a month. The discovery was made almost simultaneously with a complaint because one of the courts was without a net, the department feeling that play so far had not warranted complete equipment.

All city equipment is covered in a council offer of twenty-five dollars reward for information leading to conviction of persons damaging or destroying city property.

For convenience of tennis players who wish to play during times when no one is on duty in the park, nets are left out continuously. It is also felt that considering labor costs, taking the nets in and putting them out is very costly. Some damage and theft was experienced when the policy was first started but in late years, very little damage and no loss had been reported until now.

Score by innings: Pittsburgh, June 7 (AP)—Vince DiMaggio singled in the eighth inning, scoring two with bases loaded, to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds here tonight.

DiMaggio's timely hit sent John Barrett and Jim Russell across the plate with the winning runs, as Tomas De La Cruz Reds' hurler, weakened and was relieved by Bill Lohman.

Rip Sewell, relieved by Xavier Rescigno in the ninth frame, was credited with his seventh straight win of the season.

NOSED IN NINTH

Brooklyn, June 7 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies scored two runs in the ninth after two were out to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-5 today.

A triple by Ray Hamrick and a wild pitch scoring Hamrick, enabled the Phillies to tie the score. Then Ruben Melton walked Tony Lupien and Buster Adams. With Wes Flowers relieving, ex-Dodger Jimmy Wadell singled tallying Lupien with the winning run.

Ken Raggenberger, who pitched the first eight frames for Philadelphia was the winner, his fifth of the campaign, and Ruben Melton suffered his fourth reversal.

The Dodgers got off to an early lead when Stan Bordagary singled to open Brooklyn's half of the first inning and was followed by Angie Galan's home run. Galan's hit gave him a string of 18 straight games in which he has hit safely.

Score by innings: Philadelphia 000 310 002—6 8 0 Brooklyn — 201 002 000—5 10 2

Mel Ott, Weintraub And Reyes Help Defeat Boston, 6-2

Polo Grounds, New York, N. Y., June 7 (AP)—Pounding Al Javery for four home runs including Mel Ott's 13th and 14th, Nappy Reyes fifth, and Phil Weintraub's sixth, the Giants gave Harry Feldman an easy 6 to 2 victory for his fourth triumph before 12,821 night game cash customers.

Ott's first home came in the third, and his second in the seventh with George Hausmann on Reyes' drive was inside the park in the sixth, and Weintraub's followed Ott's in the seventh.

Feldman had a one hit shut-out to his credit until the seventh when Butch Nieman poled his seventh homer with Tommy Holmes on base for Boston's only run.

Phil Weintraub's 450-foot triple and Nappy Reyes single accounted for the other Giant run in the fourth.

The Braves tie the major league record of not having a single man left on base.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 151
An Ordinance to prohibit and penalize violations of Price Regulations, Rent Regulations and Rationing Orders, as issued by the United States of America.

That the proper allocation of commodities needed for the defense of the United States or for civilian supply and the effective enforcement of the National Anti-Inflation Program are necessary for the effective prosecution of the war and the welfare of the citizens of this city. It is therefore resolved by the City of Chicago that the following be the policy of this City in order to assure fair dealing and the prevention and elimination of black marketeering, in violation of the Federal Government's Price, Rationing and Rent Control Program.

Section I. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to sell, transfer or buy or receive a commodity rationed by the United States Government, or by any Agency thereof, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed commodity or to use any rationed coupon or other rationing device in the sale, transfer or purchase of such commodity, without taking or giving the coupon, stamp, certificate, ration check or other evidence required by such Order or Regulation or by any Amendment, or to violate the time of the transaction, or to use any rationed POUNDED.

THE CITY OF ESCANABA ORDAINS:

- (1) It shall be unlawful for any person to own any dog four months old or older unless said dog is licensed, in accordance with Act No. 329 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1919, as amended; and any dog four months old or older that does not at the time wear a collar with metal tag attached, as provided in said Section 329 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1919, as amended, except when engaged in lawful hunting accompanied by its owner or custodian; or for any owner of any female dog to permit said female dog to go beyond premises of such owner when she is in heat, unless such female dog is held properly in leash; or for any person except the owner or authorized agent to remove any license tag from a dog or for any owner of any dog to allow any dog to stray beyond his premises, unless under reasonable control of some person or custodian, except when engaged in lawful hunting accompanied by its owner or custodian, from the first day of May to the 31st day of August in each year from and after the time this Ordinance takes effect;
- (2) It shall be the duty of the owner of any dog four months old or older in the City of Escanaba to procure a license for such dog, in accordance with the Public Acts of Michigan for 1919, as amended;
- (3) It shall be the duty of the Police Officers of the City of Escanaba to locate and kill, or cause to be killed, all dogs for which a license has not been procured, as provided in Section 329 of this Ordinance, said dogs to be impounded for forty-eight (48) hours before their destruction;
- (4) The owner or keeper of any dog impounded may redeem such dog by paying to the City Treasurer of the City of Escanaba a redemption fee of One and 50/100 Dollars ($1.50) for each dog so impounded, which such fee shall be paid by the City Treasurer to the General Fund of the City of Escanaba. Upon receiving such redemption fee the City Treasurer shall issue a receipt therefor to said owner and keeper, and upon presentation of such receipt to the person in charge of such impounded dog, shall release the same to the owner or keeper;
- (5) On sworn complaint to any Justice of the Peace of the City of Escanaba that any one of the following facts exist:
 - (a) That after May first and before August 31st in each year any dog over four years old is running at large, unaccompanied by its owner, or is engaged in lawful hunting and not under the reasonable control of its owner, with license attached to the collar on such dog;
 - (b) That any dog duly licensed and wearing license tag, has destroyed property or habitually trespasses in a damaging way upon the property of persons other than the owner;
 - (c) That any dog duly licensed and wearing license tag, has at any time attacked or bitten a person or person;
 - (d) That any dog duly licensed and wearing license tag, shows vicious habits and molesta passersby when lawfully upon the public highway;
 - (e) That any dog duly licensed and wearing license tag, is running at large contrary to the provisions of this Ordinance.
 Such Justice of the Peace shall issue a summons to show cause why such dog should not be killed. Upon such hearing the Justice may either order the dog killed, or may order him confined to the premises of the owner. If the owner disobeys such order, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding Ten Dollars ($10.00) or the imprisonment in the County Jail not exceeding ten (10) days, or to both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the Court. Costs, as in a civil case, shall be taxed against the owner of the dog and collected by the City.
- (6) If any section, clause or proviso of this Ordinance shall be declared to be inconsistent with the Constitution of the State of Michigan and Chapter of the City of Escanaba and so found by any court of competent jurisdiction, such section, clause or proviso so declared to be inconsistent and void, shall therefore cease to be a part of this Ordinance, but the remainder of said Ordinance shall continue and be in full force.

CARL E. ANDERSON, City Clerk.

ELKS TO HOLD FLAG PROGRAM

Annual Exercises Will Be Conducted Next
Sunday

Escanaba lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will hold its annual flag day exercises in front of the Elks temple 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 11.

Sgt. Ralph Sheehan of Marquette, member of the Michigan State Police, will be the principal speaker. Arthur J. Goulet will act as master of ceremonies, and Rev. Fr. Clifford Nadeau will give the invocation.

Proceeding the ceremonies, a parade will be held on Ludington street, starting at the junior high school. Participating in the parade will be the Escanaba municipal band, Coast Guards, American Legion, Color Guard, Drum and Bugle Corps, city officials and members of the Elks lodge.

All Elks are urged to attend. Arrangements for the program are in charge of a committee composed of John C. Bennett, chairman, Norman Stephenson and Arthur J. Goulet.

Republicans Asleep At The Poll Switch

Columbia, S. C. (AP) — When a general election is held in South Carolina, traditionally a one-party state, the voters hardly know it.

Recently a general election was held in Columbia in two Democratic primaries for seats in the city council. Only 28 ballots were cast.

The last census gave Columbia a population of 62,296. Votes cast in the primary totalled nearly 2,000.

McMillan

Summer 4-H Clubs
McMillan—The East Lake summer 4-H club was organized and the members were elected officers: President—Jack Varnes. Vice president—Elnore Saunders.

Secretary—Ina Hetrick. Reporter—Bob Hetrick. Viola Hetrick will be the local leader and Willa Varnes and Connie Hetrick will be her assistants. The advisory members are Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Hetrick, Mrs. L. S. Varnes and Mrs. Ray Lynne. Slides were shown by Mr. Abel and requirements for different clubs were given by Mrs. Gladys Mercier.

Members enrolled in different clubs are: Garden, Ina Hetrick, Maurine Hetrick, Joe Fyvie, Dorothy Jane Pelletier, Donald Sanders; canning, Dorothy Jane Pelletier, Dawn Pelletier, Betty Simmons, Connie, and Ina Hetrick; and Elnore Saunders; potato, Jack Varnes, Jesse Harriger, Richard and Robert Hetrick, Dawn Pelletier, George Bruyn, Tom Miller and Niel Saunders; calf, Jack Varnes, Dawn Pelletier and Richard Hetrick.

The club decided to meet every two weeks. The next meeting will be held June 8th at the Pelletier home at the Alpine Farms.

Dr. Alexander M. Campbell, nationally known authority on obstetrics and diseases of women, will address a group of women in the McMillan High School auditorium on Monday, June 5, at 8:00 p. m. His topic will be "Effect of War on Civilian Health."

A movie "Motherhood, Life's Most Important Job" will be shown. The local invitational committee consists of Mrs. Walter C. Peters, Mrs. Cash C. Miller, Mrs. Ferris Musgrave, Mrs. Vera Secrist and Miss Virginia Wood, County School Commissioner.

There is no local expense connected with this lecture as it is a part of the state's adult health education program. The program is sponsored by the County Health Department. All interested adults of McMillan and vicinity are welcome to attend this lecture.

The quota of new passenger cars available for rationing during June reflects the shortest supply of automobiles since the beginning of the war, the Office of Price Administration has announced.

Nine thousand cars have been assigned for June, with another 2,350 set up as regional reserves and 1,260 as a national reserve.

The reserves are established to provide for extremely urgent needs when quotas have been used up. For example, if a quota has been used and a doctor suddenly finds himself in need of a car to reach his patients, he could be supplied from any remaining reserve.

The June quota is 10 per cent less than the May quota and is less than a normal one-day supply before the war when approximately 16,000 new automobiles were manufactured and sold daily.

Stricter Rationing
The original stock of 530,000 new cars on hand February 1, 1942, was a 53-day supply in normal times. It has been stretched over two years by rationing with the result that on May 1, 1944, only 47,000 units were left.

Rationing of cars will become stricter as the supply dwindles, OPA said. Such users as doctors, police departments and the bureau of public health and safety need the most reliable transportation if they are to make their maximum contribution to the home front.

The June quota and reserves for this region is as follows:

Quota—1,228. Reserve—320. The bicycle quota for June has been increased approximately 45 per cent over the May quota to conform with seasonal demand, the total assigned being 17,500 with 4,400 as regional and 2,600 as national reserves. The reserves are to be used for urgent needs if quotas are exhausted.

Streetcar Accent Befuddles Private

New Orleans. (AP)—The Army private on leave boarded a New Orleans streetcar, asked the conductor to sing out when it reached Jackson avenue, then relaxed to view the unfamiliar scenery of the picturesque city.

Came an avenue stop and the conductor yelled what sounded like "Hooray." The private turned inquiringly but the conductor motioned to him to relax. That was Broadway.

In five minutes the conductor cried "Ashbarrel." That, the private found, by studying street signs, was Nashville.

"Bullion" proved to be Napoleon and "Weakoslad" was Louisiana. The private felt he was beginning to catch on.

"Taxi!" It was not the conductor this time but a stout passenger who stuck his head out the window to hail a passing cab. But it fooled the soldier. He darted through the door and was gone before the conductor missed him.

Here Are Ways To Keep Tires Rolling

Akron, O. (AP)—Synthetic tires require the same care as those made of natural rubber, say technicians in this world's rubber capital.

They caution motorists to keep tires correctly inflated, checking them once a week. Drivers also are urged to watch wheel alignment and to rotate tires from wheel to wheel occasionally.

But cuts or tears may lengthen more rapidly in synthetic tires, they emphasize, and damaged tires should be repaired promptly.

Worry of FALSE TEETH

Slipping or Irritating?
Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummer, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEREETH at any drug store.
